

Princess - Free to be me

First and foremost, I love the diversity. You know you can always see your own people, but you can also see people that are different from you. So for me, I like learning, I like just meeting people.