

Derry - Barriers and challenges

I do not know if there are that many opportunities for younger people. There are a lot of people I know through the cadets that are 18 or 19, these young volunteers. It is great that they are helping us as volunteers, but they are struggling to get apprenticeships or struggling to get jobs. For those guys, it is quite difficult, just from what I have heard. Some have managed to get jobs in pubs and bars and restaurants and things like that. But to get something that is going to give them a career, that seems like it is a bit of a struggle.

There is a bit of a gap there that needs addressing.
