

Annie - Lived religion and belief

I get an intuition, sort of like 'oh I won't go that way, I will go this way', and then I'll find that something has happened the other way. If I had gone that way it would have been a problem. It's that sort of instinct, that sort of second sight if you like. I do believe that there are family members or angels if you like, or spirits that actually help to protect me.
