

Mussarat - Quirky treasure

School life was absolutely amazing. The teachers were so loving and so kind. One day, the teacher took the whole class home and gave them a party. And she used to read to us. Once she read The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe. I absolutely love that book to this day. It was magic. I would sit there daydreaming about when Edmund was given Turkish Delight to eat. It was so magical, and I was telling my mum all the way home about the story when she came and picked me up.
