

Alfred - Lived religion and belief

My parents view certain things as a social stigma, in regards to certain actions you can do. When I wanted to be an actor, there has been times where there have been opportunities for me to go for roles that would challenge my cultural identity a bit, such as playing a member of the LGBTQ+ community or something of that sort. I think it has always worried them. When I was filming a programme I was on, I played a Hindu boy and there was a scene where I was at a funeral, saying a Hindu prayer. I could tell that it really, really distressed my parents, the fact that I was going to be filmed saying the prayer of another religion.